

POSTMASTER RECOMMENDS THAT SUB-STATIONS BE ESTABLISHED

Letter to Washington Carries Ideas of W. F. Young for Increased Efficiency

Recommendations for the establishment of two postal sub-stations in Honolulu will be forwarded tomorrow to the first assistant postmaster-general by William F. Young, postmaster of Honolulu. These recommendations call for one station to be located at Wai'alae road and 12th avenue, and another at Pauahi and River streets.

This is the second step taken by Postmaster Young toward carrying out his policy of increasing the efficiency of the local postal service. The first step was the request to Washington for the appointment of additional clerks and carriers. In response to a request from Postmaster Young the Chamber of Commerce recommended that stations be located at Kaimuki, Palama or Kalihi and Kakaako. The Kaimuki Improvement Club, after meeting with Postmaster Young, designated Wai'alae road and 12th avenue as a desirable location for a postal sub-station. This recommendation was accepted by Mr. Young.

The site selected at River and Pauahi streets is in one of the congested districts of the city, occupied largely by Japanese. The station, if approved, will be located in a store conducted by a Japanese who has been found competent to act as clerk. His salary will be $100 a year. The establishment of a station in this locality is following out a desire of Mr. Young as brought out in a statement made recently, when he said that, after an investigation, he believed that the congested district of Honolulu should have one of the stations.

Speaking on the topic of postal sub-stations this morning, the postmaster said that he expects early action on the part of the postoffice department in approving his recommendations. The postmaster now has in mind Pawaia Junction and King street and Kalihi road as suitable locations for other stations. As soon as arrangements are made for persons to take charge of these proposed stations, the necessary recommendations will be forwarded to Washington.

TOT, COMPELLED TO GO TO SCHOOL, PREFERS TO TEACH

A little girl with bright eyes and a pretty face started the clerks in the office of public instruction this morning when she appeared there to get a place teaching school. Being exceedingly young for such a position, and herself perhaps a student in the fourth grade, her request was unexpected and, as it developed, amusing.

"I want to be a school teacher," she began.

"But," protested one of the clerks, "you are too young now."

She shook her head emphatically. "Have you finished the Normal school course?" inquired the clerk, smiling.

The little girl answered in the negative.

Here the curiosity of the clerk got the best of her.

"Why do you want to teach?" he asked.

"Because," replied the tot without hesitation, "because I've got to go to school anyway, and I'd rather teach because it is much easier."

FIELD AND FORD AD CLUB BILL OF FARE AT LUNCH TOMORROW

"At the Ad club noonday lunch tomorrow H. Gooding Field will make an address on "Our Public Financial Problems." Based on the intimate knowledge which Mr. Field's recent investigations on Hawaii and Oahu has given him, this discussion should prove exceedingly instructive. Mr. Field will take up many phases of our territorial and county financial problems which he will supplement by graphic charts. There should be a large attendance of members and friends, especially as the questions to be considered are vital ones at this time of political program making.

Alexander Hume Ford, just returned from a world's tour, will have a message to deliver to his fellow boosters of the Ad club.

The civic and municipal committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be represented by special invitation.

STOWAWAY ON TRANSPORT IS R. J. RITCHIE

Wife of Escaped Prisoner Says She Does Not See How Her Husband Got So Far

It will be up to the authorities from the state of Washington to secure the return of R. J. Ritchie, the fugitive from the city and county jail, who had been held in this city to await his return to the coast, only to make his escape and weeks later turn up at Manila, where he has been placed under arrest pending a disposition of his case.

"Ritchie was a stowaway, and from what we have learned, he proceeded to the Philippines in the United States army transport Logan," stated Sheriff Charles Rose today.

The local police have called the Manila authorities representing in as much as Ritchie reached the islands in an army transport, he be returned to this city and treated as a stowaway. The last word, however, is up to the police department of Seattle, Washington, who also have been advised that Ritchie has been located at Manila.

When asked this morning regarding the report that her husband has been arrested in Manila, Mrs. Ritchie said:

"I don't see how he could be there. I don't know anything about it. I don't know any more than anybody else. I have no statement to make."

Ritchie made his escape from the county Jail on June 14, leaving the institution by means of a rope which, according to the police statements, had previously been smuggled into jail by his wife, yet in this city, Jailor Asch declared at the time that the rope had been passed by a keeper as a bottle of milk.

Inspectors connected with the customs service declared that Ritchie had left the islands in the Logan, a wireless to this effect having been sent the ship bringing the response that the man was not on board. He is now believed to have been concealed by members of the Logan crew, and leaving the vessel at the Philippine capital fell into the meshes of the Manila police net spread at the instance of information received from Captain of Detectives McDuffie of this city.

SHOT SOLDIER IN SELF-DEFENSE IS CLAIM OF POLICE

Sheriff Rose Stands Behind His Man—Officers of the 25th Investigating

The .38 caliber automatic revolver now in the possession of Sheriff Charles Rose has been identified to the satisfaction of the police as the gun which reposed in the holster of William Jackson, colored private of Company C, 25th Infantry, who, shortly before 11 o'clock Saturday night, was the victim of two shots from a pistol fired by Police Officer Manuel Smith, who it is claimed fired his weapon in self defense.

"We are satisfied from the investigation now made that the gun brought to the station by Private Sam H. Williams, a member of Jackson's organization, is the weapon which the colored soldier endeavored to draw upon Police Officer Smith at Iwilei on Saturday night," said Sheriff Rose today.

"While I have not as yet secured a complete statement from Officer Smith as to what led up to the trouble at Iwilei, I hope to have his version of the affair within a short time. Smith will be retained on the force and I do not hesitate to state that I am willing to back this officer up in his action."

Jackson, who received one bullet in the cheek and another through the neck, was taken to Queen's hospital following the shooting, but today was removed to Fort Shafter. His condition being stated as greatly improved and according to medical authorities the man has every chance of pulling through. He sat up in the ambulance during the ride through the city.

Officers identified with the 25th Infantry are holding an investigation of the disorderly affray that led up to the police taking a hand in quelling a small riot in Iwilei on Saturday night. Three men alleged to have been implicated in the affair were sent to the guard house.

According to Police Officer Smith he acted in the discharge of his duty when he accosted Jackson, ordered his arrest and met with resistance, in which he declares the colored man made several ineffectual attempts to remove the gun from its leather sheath. At the third call to stop and throw up his hands, Jackson, according to Smith, made the last effort to get the gun from the holster and while engaged in extracting it, Officer Smith fired.

Some moments later a crowd of colored soldiers surrounded Smith. Police reinforcements were summoned. Sergeant Fred Lauka and several officers responding to the call for assistance.

Shells to the number of seven were picked up on the ground at the point occupied by Jackson at the time of the affray.

Smith has a number of witnesses who are willing to testify that Jackson was armed although he is alleged to have handed his gun to another enlisted man when finally taken in charge by the police.
